

General Medicine

The General Medicine job at the Horton is a fantastic opportunity to consolidate knowledge and learn as much as possible from General Practice.

It was a busy job, a very friendly hospital with amazingly approachable seniors and although you are on your own at night they are always available on the phone and more than willing to come in if necessary. There is lots of informal teaching, chances to do lots of procedures and to attend outpatients.

The annual leave is fixed after nights and this means on days the team hardly ever has anyone away and you rotate around to work for at least four Consultants.
